VOLUME XXX NO. 149

SEYMOUR, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1911.

PRICE TWO CENTS

RESUMED WORK TUESDAY NIGHT

Thieves Operated in City On Wholesale Basis.—Five Stores Were Entered.

TWO SALOONS ALSO ROBBED

Attempt to Enter Third Saloon Failed.—Cash Secured at Several Places.

Thieves resumed operations in Seymour Tuesday night and went at the job on a wholesale basis.

Seven stores and saloons were entered and an effort too enter one more saloon was made.

W. F. Bush's Shoe Store, The Cordes Hardware Store, The Union Hardware Company's Store, A. Steinwedel's Clothing Store, the J. C. Groub Wholesale house, and The saloons of Jacob Becker and James Phillips were all entered.

The glass in the front door at William Ross' saloon was broken out but the thieves had difficulty in unlocking the door afterward and for some reason left without making further efforts to get in.

At the Cordes store the thieves entered through a back window and breaking open a desk in the office, secured about $1.25 in change. Four revolvers were carried from the front of the store to the office and left in the latter place.

No money was secured at the Groub store and no goods have been missed. The iron doors at the back entrance were pried open and the glass door broken.

At the Bush store a pair of shoes was found near the back door and it is thought possible one or two pairs may have been taken.

Several dollars in change were taken from the money drawers in the Union Hardware Company's store. The front door was forced open at this place and was found standing open this morning. As the lights were burning in the store during the night, it seems strange the night police did not notice the open door.

It was through the front door at Steinwedel's also that the thieves entered but only a small amount of change rewarded their work there.

The two saloons yielded the best harvests. In the cash register at James Phillips', about $5 was found and some cigars are also missing. Jacob Becker of St. Louis Avenue, lost $13.80 by the raid on his place. Lights are left burning all night in several of the houses which were entered last night.

No one knows at what hours the robberies were committed but it is believed the work was done after midnight as in one or two cases people who live upstairs in the neighborhood of the stores robbed, were awake until midnight.

A citizen who was going west on Bruce street at 1:25 this morning noticed some one standing a short distance down the alley in the rear of the Business College. The citizen stopped and then took a few steps toward the man but halted when the latter pulled a revolver.

As has been the case in each of the robberies of the past few months, there is no clue as to who the guilty parties are, though there seems no longer any doubt that they are local people.

Since the date of the first robbery there has been no attempts made to open safes, the robbers being content to take the money easily obtainable from cash drawers and registers. The thieves are also shrewd enough not to take any merchandise, the disposal of which might lead to their apprehension.

The proprietors of the two saloons which were robbed last night say they could find no evidence that the stock of liquors in their places was disturbed.

The merchants are much exercised over the robberies and are discussing the question of what can be done to stop them. The police seem to be unable to accomplish anything in that direction and in fact frequently have no knowledge of the robberies until the following morning.

Given Jail Sentences.

Elmer Sullivan and Mrs. Carrie Smith will go to Brownstown Thursday morning to remain some time. They were arrested this morning charged with associating unlawfully. Each entered a plea of guilty and he was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Her fine was $30 and her jail sentence also 30 days. As they cannot pay their fines, their terms in jail will be lengthened. He will be there for 90 days, while she will stay 70 days. When brought to jail this morning the Smith woman was intoxicated.

Evening Concert.

The College of Music of Cincinnati, will present Miss Hannah Mills, soprano, of Seymour, Mr. James Harrod, tenor, of Cincinnati, and Mr. Thomas E. Griselle, pianist, of Cincinnati, in an evening concert at the Majestic theatre, Thursday evening, June first. Miss Mills' ability as a soloist is well known in Seymour. With her are associated two artists and together they will give an excellent concert. They should have a liberal support from Seymour music lovers.

Member of Bureau.

G. W. Ferner, formerly of Waymansville, but now of Woodlawn, Mich., is a member of the Upper Peninsula Bureau. The Bureau has a regular publicity service and is doing extensive work in advertising the advantages of the Upper Peninsula and in promoting enterprises for the development of that section.

At Encampment.

The line of march for the parade of civil war veterans of the Grand Army will be less than one and one-half miles. The short march has been arranged to prevent the veterans from tiring and it is expected that the number in line will be large.

Carnival Coming.

The W. H. Wieder Carnival Company will be here all next week and will be located on the Peters show lot. The company promises a week of fun and amusement.

BORN.

To Mr. and Mrs. Andy Storey, of North Ewing street, Tuesday, a son.

E. A. Sallust of Indianapolis, is here for a few days representing the Home Fire Insurance Company, in which numerous Jackson county people are stockholders.

W. P. Masters was in Brownstown today.

NOT ANXIOUS TO MEET WIFE

Leonard Maples Shuns Such Ordeal And Offered to Plead Guilty.

MRS. GULLET ALSO WILLING.

Have Been in Jail in Jeffersonville Several Days Charged With Bigamy.

Leonard Maples and Mrs. Rose Gullet, the former Jackson county people, who were arrested at Louisville Saturday night and taken to jail at Jeffersonville to await a hearing on a bigamy charge, have signified their willingness to enter pleas of guilty.

Maples did not have the nerve to meet his wife, who he had deserted at Medora.

Wednesday's Louisville Courier Journal said:

Leonard Maples and Mrs. Rose Gullet, who are now in jail at Jeffersonville, awaiting a preliminary hearing on the charge of bigamy, have signified they will plead guilty before Magistrate James S. Keigwin, to be held over to the Circuit Court. On Monday, Magistrate Keigwin named May 15 as the date for a preliminary hearing and the prisoners were sent back to jail. Yesterday Joseph H. Warder, attorney for the pair, informed Magistrate Keigwin that his clients had signified their desire to plead guilty, and that it was not necessary to have Mrs. Maples or Mrs. Gullet's husband summoned to appear against the culprits.

Magistrate Keigwin then ordered the case set for this morning. It is the impression that Maples is not anxious to meet his wife, Mrs. Effie Maples, of Medora, face to face, and would rather take his punishment without seeing her.

Under the laws of Indiana, a person convicted on the charge of bigamy, can be sent to prison for an indeterminate period of from two to five years; or fined in a sum not exceeding $1,000, or be imprisoned in a county jail for not more than six months, or given both fine and imprisonment.

Line Fence.

A law passed by the recent legislature makes township trustees sort of indirect peace makers in the matter of line fence disputes. The law provides that where one land owner is willing to build his part of a line fence and other land owners on the same line refuse to build their parts, the first land owner can report the matter to the township trustee, whose duty it will be to have the line fence, that has been refused, built and charge the cost up to the land owner. While the fence is being built the township trustee is allowed $3 a day.

The Ebner Ice and Cold Storage Co. have on hand an ample supply of Lime-Sulphur solution, which they are offering at a low price in order to encourage the spraying of apple orchards and other fruits. For prices inquire at their office at the Ice Plant. m31d&w Created Disturbance.

A crowd of boys created a noisy disturbance in the neighborhood of the interurban station last night. They were carrying clubs and for an hour or two they made themselves quite offensive to the people of that section. A woman finally called up the police, but by the time they arrived the boys had left, probably learning of the approach of the police. It is reported that several boys have been drinking beer quite freely during the past few weeks. About ten o'clock last night several boys or young men engaged in a fight in front of the Hoeferkamp gallery on East Second street and one of them threw a brick bat through the glass show case which was fastened to the wall in front of the gallery.

How Old?

A. L. Griffith, of Milford, the mathematical wonder, who was in Seymour Tuesday afternoon, offers $100 to any one who will solve the following problem as to how old the wonder is. The problem is as follows:

What year, month, date, day, hour, and minute was he born as he will be exactly as many seconds old at 7:47 p. m. on April 27, 1914, as the number of different multiples there are of the number 931,322,574,615,478,515,625; and if the population of the United States the day he was born had been 3 times the sixth-power of the date of his birthday, it kept increasing each year on his birthday at the rate of 1.5 per cent, when his birthday happened on Sunday each citizen sent him one cent, when it happened on Easter each citizen sent him one dime, he spent one-fourth as many dollars per day for his living as the date of the month of his birthday since he was born and as many dollars each year as the cube of the date for other expenses, how much money would he have saved next Christmas?

Arm Broken.

Mrs. W. Knight, of South Vine street, suffered a broken arm Monday. She was going down the rear steps at her home to go over to a neighbors when the step turned, causing her to lose her balance and fall, breaking her left arm, near the shoulder. The break is quite painful and it will be some time before she will be able to use it.

Mite Box Opening.

The Home Missionary Society held its annual mite box opening Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. O. Mayes on West Fifth street. The boxes yielded over $30.00. The afternoon's program included a reading by Mrs. Temple, vocal solo by Mrs. Elmer Bollinger, vocal duet by Mrs. Tunley and Mrs. Lumpkin, paper by Mrs. Barbour.

Runaway.

Ralph Lewis, rural mail carrier, had a runaway this morning north-west of the city. The horse scared and ran some distance before it could be stopped. Lewis was thrown out of the mail wagon but was not hurt. One wheel on the wagon was broken, but another was secured from a farmer and Lewis continued his trip over his route.

Country Club Dance.

The May committee of the Country Club is preparing to open the social season with a dance at the club house Thursday evening. There will be other amusements besides dancing, and refreshments will be served. The social events at the club last summer were all successful and the opening of the season this year has been anticipated with pleasure by the members.

TALK ABOUT YOUR MAIL ORDER HOUSE

Bring Your Catalogues and Compare Prices Made in Seymour.

COME TO SEYMOUR TO TRADE.

That is the Slogan to be Used by All Good Citizens of Seymour.

"Bring your catalogues with you," is the challenge of the Seymour merchants. It is the intention of every merchant here to show the people of Jackson county and surrounding territory that they can not only sell goods as cheap but cheaper than any of the neighboring towns and cities and especially the mail order houses.

And you won't have to pay the freight either. Besides this, railroad fares will be paid to all out-of-town customers during this great combination sale. Think of it, and don't let anything prevent you from getting to Seymour during this sale.

The big sale is an innovation for the city and county and is being promoted and arranged by the Republican in order to advertise Seymour as the best trading point in this section of the country. Let everyone boost.

Every citizen of Seymour who has the interest of the city at heart, should begin to talk and continue to talk, about the big combination sale to be pulled off by the merchants next week. Let the slogan be "Come to Seymour to trade." Shout the slogan so loud that it will be heard for twenty miles in each direction.

Just wait until you see the special edition which will contain the bargains the merchants are making during this big sale!

Country Club Opening.

The first social event of the season will be given at the Club House Thursday evening, May 11th. First hack will leave Andrews Drug Co. at 7:30 p. m. Hack tickets at drug store. m11d

Rebekah Grand Lodge.

The twenty-seventh annual session of the Rebekah assembly of Indiana will be held in the I. O. O. F. grand lodge hall beginning at 2 p. m. Monday, May 15. The president, Mrs. Ora E. Norris, of Crawfordsville, will preside. The afternoon will be devoted to opening exercises, the address of the president and to report of the secretary and treasurer.

Monday evening, from 7:30 to 8:30 there will be a reception in the parlors on the twelfth floor of grand lodge building. This will be followed by a business session. Tuesday morning will be devoted to business and installation, and at 1 p. m. there will be an excursion to the I. O. O. F. home at Greensburg. Tuesday evening at Tomlinson hall, the degree will be conferred by Marion lodge No. 247, of Marion, Martha Washington lodge No. 13, of Crawfordsville and Eudora lodge No. 201, of Monticello.

Mrs. D. W. Wilson, Mrs. Irma Hancock, Miss Myrtle Morton and Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Baird will represent Seymour lodge No. 667.

THE STUDENTS

Who Will Represent Seymour In Contest at North Vernon.

The students who will represent the Seymour High School in the athletic, oratorical and declamatory contests at the meeting of the Southeastern Indiana High School Association at North Vernon Friday, have been selected.

The selections were made by the student body instead of by preliminary contests. Miss Lois Reynolds will represent the school in the declamatory contest and Kennedy Hassenzahl in the oratorical contest.

The contestants in the track and field events will be: Harold Graessle, Frank Hopewell, Walter Voss, Jesse Lynn, Clarence Bunton, Forest Craig, Everett Murry, George Humphrey, Ray Foster and Kennedy Hassenzahl.

The Annual Convention.

The seventy-second annual convention of the Indiana Christian Missionary Association will be held in the Tabernacle Christian church in Columbus May 15, 16 and 17 and a splendid program has been arranged. Several prominent ministers and church workers known in this city have places on the program. The Convention promises to be a big success.

Rev. George Rader, of the Central Christian church and quite a number of the members will attend. Lodging and breakfast will be free to all who send notice of their purpose to attend the convention.

Goes to Brownstown.

Prof. H. G. Knight, who has been the successful superintendent of the Scottsburg schools for several years, has resigned and accepted the same position in the Brownstown schools for next year. He was in the city today on his way to Brownstown and while here was the guest of Prof. J. A. Linke.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank the friends and neighbors for their sympathy and assistance at the death and burial of Mrs. Carrie Carter Prince and also for the many floral contributions. Their many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy will always be appreciated. The Family.

THIS ERROR MAY FREE MURDERER

Clerk Erred In Adding to the Sentence.

JUDGMENT HELD CONTESTABLE

In Writing Judgment in Case of Henry Dorsey, Convicted of Murder at Gary, Clerk of Court Added "and Disfranchised For Ten Years," Which Was Not Part of the Jury's Verdict, and Sentence is Invalidated.

Hammond, Ind., May 10.—Henry Dorsey of Gary, who killed John Brown because the latter's little girl threw a puppy in his face as he passed in the street, and who was sentenced to life imprisonment for manslaughter, may escape on a technicality.

When the court clerk wrote the judgment he added to the sentence "and disfranchised for ten years." This was no part of the jury's verdict and the courts have ruled that an error of this sort invalidates the judgment.

HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Fort Wayne Fishing Party Comes to Grief on Way to Lakes.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 10.—An automobile party, consisting of four officials of the Bowser oil tank works, one of the largest manufacturing concerns in this city, met with a serious accident while on the way to the lakes north of here on a fishing trip. Twelve miles north of Fort Wayne their machine turned over and all were severely hurt. A wrist of Harry S. Bowser, vice president and secretary of the Bowser company, was broken; an arm of A. Z. Polhamus, general manager, was broken; S. B. Bechtel, assistant general manager, was badly bruised, and C. E. Saunders, one of the heads of the sales department, received painful injuries. They were brought here to a hospital.

SUSPICION REVIVED

Former Employee on the Poole Farm Missing For a Year.

Fowler, Ind., May 10.—A letter has been received by Marshal Bowman from Mrs. Charles Clark of New York city, who says her husband has not been heard from for more than a year. Marshal Clark arrested Clark in March, 1910, for drunkenness and recognized the photograph sent in the letter as being that of Clark, who at one time was employed by John W. Poole, the farmer who is charged with murdering Joseph Kemper and burying the body in a cornfield. The opinion repeatedly has been expressed that other bodies would be found on the Poole farm.

Alleged Whitecap Not Found.

Bloomington, Ind., May 10.—All of the seven men charged with the white-capping of Harvey McFarley, near Paynetown, are under arrest, except William Chambers, a farmer, in the south part of the county. The officers have been unable to find him, and believe he has left the county.

Janitor Sentenced For Life.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 10.—Frank Huff, aged fifty-four, janitor of the First Methodist church, charged with attacking four little girls, pleaded guilty in the circuit court and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Michigan City prison. Huff is a married man with a family.

Wife Murderer Sentenced For Life.

Brazil, Ind., May 10.—Henry Des Camp was sentenced to prison for life for the murder of his wife, by a jury before which he pleaded guilty to murder. He appeared relieved when he learned that he was not to be hanged.

Burglars Came in Auto.

Greensburg, Ind., May 10.—A prosperous burglar robbed the home of John McDonald, getting away with $50 cash. Tracks of the automobile used by the burglar form the only known clue.

His Companions Disappeared.

Marion, Ind., May 10.—Charles McDonald, aged fourteen, playfully pushed from a boat, drowned in the Mississippi river. His two companions disappeared.

ROYALTY AT CLOSE RANGE

King and Queen of England Leaving a Picture Gallery.

© 1911, by American Press Association.

London, May 10.—The first court of George V., king of England, was fully as brilliant as that of his father, Edward VII. There were present more than 1,000 guests and the costumes worn were the most gorgeous seen in England in many a day.

INVASION IS URGED BY SENATOR STONE

Missourian Wants Soldiers Sent Across Border.

Washington, May 10.—Senator Stone of Missouri made a speech in the senate demanding that the president should invade Mexico, if necessary, with troops to protect American life and property. Senator Bacon and Senator Works commended President Taft's course of non-interference, and deplored Senator Stone's attitude. Both declared that the armed invasion would mean war, and Senator Works said it would mean "many years of war."

'MUST STAY IN JAIL

Court Refuses to Let John McNamara Out on Bail.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 10.—J. J. McNamara's application for release on bail on the charge of complicity in depositing and exploding dynamite in the plant of the Llewellyn Iron works was disallowed by Judge Bordwell. There are nineteen charges of murder against the defendant.

Recently Mrs. Inez C. Decker, representing an organization of working women in this city, invited the mother of J. J. McNamara and J. B. McNamara to come to this city as their guest. Mrs. McNamara's reply, which has just arrived, contains an acceptance. She said she is unable to pay her own way and must depend on the women who invited her for fare and other expenses.

A Los Angeles Incident.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 10.—W. H. Owens and W. Ravensworth were arrested last evening and fined $5 each for selling buttons bearing the inscription "McNamara brothers not guilty." They paid.

Ten Poisoned By Ham.

Paragon, Ind., May 10.—Ten persons were made violently ill of ptomaine poisoning after eating of a boiled ham at a restaurant. George Brown, aged seventy, and wife were in a serious condition, but are now recovering.

ABANDONED ALL HOPE OF PEACE

Diaz Government to Prosecute War Vigorously.

ACTIVITY ALL ALONG THE LINE

Federal Reinforcements Are Being Rushed to Weakened Commands and All Available Troops in the North Will Be Poured Into Juarez With the Intention of Crushing Madero's Forces.

Mexico City, May 10.—The government has abandoned all hope of peace, and from now on, once again, will proceed to prosecute the war vigorously.

The government believes that General Navarro is able to withstand the rebels at Juarez, despite advices to the contrary received at Mexico City to the effect that the town was practically in the hands of the rebels. Reinforcements are being rushed to the aid of Rabago, who some time ago was ordered to the north. All available troops in the northern section have orders from the war department to proceed immediately to attack Madero. If they are unable to arrive in time to save Juarez, it is believed that the government will immediately concentrate the northern army in an attempt to retake the city.

To Besiege the Capital.

A story was circulated that Figueros, the leader of the revolutionists in the states of Guerrero and Morelos, is contemplating an attack upon Cuernavaca and immediately afterward intends to start toward Mexico City with intent to capture it. The government denies the story and says that peace arrangements have practically been concluded with the rebels in Guerrero.

A commission from the national chamber of commerce visited the minister of war and asked to be supplied with guns and ammunition for protection in case the city was attacked and mobs attempted to sack houses and stores. The minister of war agreed to supply the arms asked for.

Notices received from Durango, Tuxpan and Torreon, all large towns, state that all are in danger of attack from rebels. The government is seemingly unable to send assistance to the garrisons, as soldiers are busy in other parts.

For the last two days the rebels have been besieging Durango, keeping up a continued fire against the city. The rebels are cutting both the railroad and telegraph lines at all the cities named, and it is difficult to get information.

UNDER SEVERE STRAIN

Colonel Steever Charged With Maintaining Neutrality at El Paso.

San Antonio, Tex., May 10.—General Joseph W. Duncan, commander of the department of Texas, has given positive orders to Colonel Steever, the ranking officer in charge of the troops at El Paso, not to allow a single soldier to cross the river under any provocation. Though the situation confronting Colonel Steever is one of considerable strain and may become more complicated any minute, he has been notified in the clearest manner that absolute neutrality must be pursued by his troops.

Little Short of a Massacre.

Laredo, Tex., May 10.—Twenty federal and one officer were killed in the fighting in Saltillo. What the insurrecto loss is no one in that city knows. The fight at Concepcion seems to have been little short of a massacre according to reports. The federals were overwhelmed and the insurrectos took the town.

San Diego Caring For Wounded.

San Diego, Cal., May 10.—At least seventy-five rebels and federals have either been killed or wounded in the battle at Tia Juana. The wounded are being brought to this city.

DEADLY THEATER FIRE

Seven Burned to Death and Five Missing in Edinburgh.

Edinburgh, May 10.—The Empire music hall was burned last night. Seven are known to be dead and five are missing.

The fire started behind the scenes. The audience got out without a mishap. The casualties were all among those whose business was on the stage. The French illusionist, Lafayette, was giving a show which included a performing lion. The fire started in the elaborate scenery, which burned like paper, and the lion was roasted. The asbestos curtain saved the audience.

Acquittal of Dr. Walters.

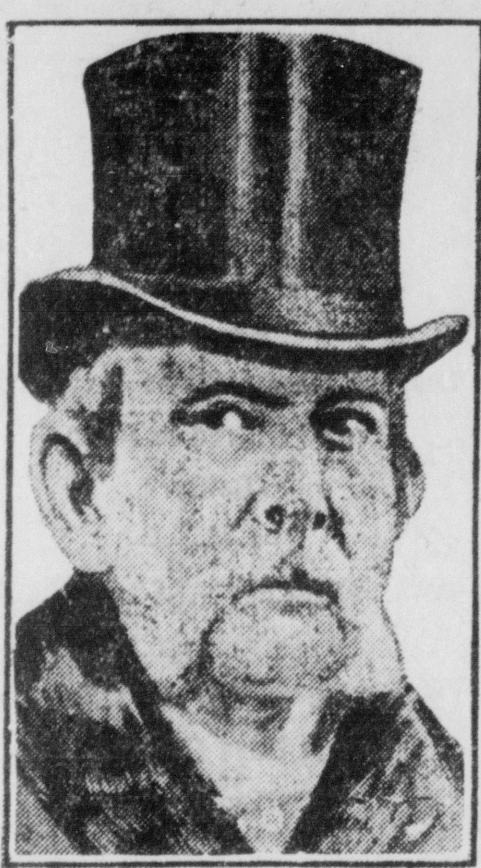

Pittsburg, Pa., May 10.—Dr. E. R. Walters, director of the municipal departments of health and charities, was acquitted in criminal court of the charge of accepting a bribe of $1,000 while he was a member of councils.

Archbishop Keane Resigns.

Washington, May 10.—Archbishop John J. Keane has tendered in Rome his resignation of the archbishopric of Dubuque, Iowa, and it has been accepted. Illness caused his resignation.

THOMAS W. HIGGINSON

Famous New Englander Is Dead of Infirmities Incident to Age.

Cambridge, Mass., May 10.—Thomas W. Higginson, famous speaker, essayist and one of Boston's most noted men, died last night from a general decline. Colonel Higginson was eighty-seven years old and was born of famous ancestry. He was educated here and at Harvard, where he was graduated with honors before the age of eighteen, the youngest in his class, and the second in rank. He spent two years at the Harvard divinity school, graduating in 1847, and was shortly afterward ordained as pastor of the First Religious society, Unitarian, of Newburyport.

HOUSE SAT DOWN ON WHITWASHING PLAN

Ohio Senate Anxious to Provide Immunity Bath.

Columbus, O., May 10.—After they had voted for the appointment of a committee of senators to investigate graft, members of the state senate who planned to escape prosecution as a result of bribery disclosures, met with a prompt check. Such a committee could grant immunity from prosecution to its witnesses. Governor Harmon and county officials have steadfastly urged against such a committee. When the house learned what the senate had done it immediately passed a bill knocking out such immunity as the senators sought and also put through a bill to compel lobbyists to register.

The senate will be embarrassed by having to consider both bills. It was openly charged in the house that the senate committee had been named for whitewashing purposes. One revelation of the bribery inquiry is to the effect that the state has not only been paying the telephone bills of assemblymen, but also those of lobbyists. Attorney General Hogan has taken steps to stop the practice.

CRUEL REVENGE

Strike Breaker at Hammond Victim of an Acid Thrower.

Hammond, Ind., May 10.—Anthony Alfaon, aged twenty-eight, an engine wiper who took the place of a man on strike at the Indiana Harbor roundhouse in West Hammond, was terribly burned by sulphuric acid.

Alfaon was working on an engine when someone came behind him and threw the acid as he turned. The flesh was burned from his side and his back and he was taken to St. Margaret hospital, where it was said he would die. Alfaon has a wife and children.

M'LEANS BLAME HOPE DIAMOND

Their Cook Quit Her Job and a Maid Became Ill

SOON AFTER THEY BOUGHT IT

Reasons For Rejecting the Gem Are Given by the McLeans, Who Are Being Sued For $180,000, the Alleged Purchase Price.

When the Hope diamond, the famous blue gem which has left a trail of misfortune behind it ever since it was discovered, was purchased recently by Edward B. McLean, son of John R. McLean of Washington, from the Cartiers of New York and Paris, Mr. McLean caused to be inserted in the purchasing contract a clause to the effect that if any ill luck should befall any of the McLean family within six months after the date of purchase the transaction was to be invalidated.

Well, the ill luck fell with a desperate thud within two months after he became the owner of the gem, Mr. McLean now alleges. It is his defense in a suit which has been opened by the Cartiers to recover the $180,000 with which he agreed tentatively to part in exchange for the stone.

Mr. McLean declares in his defense that the gem hardly had a chance to twinkle a few twinkles in his home when one of the maids fell ill, and this fact was still disturbing the equanimity of the household when the cook, who Mr. McLean believed ranked as an important factor in his home, wrapped her duds in her best Irish linen handkerchiefs and announced that she would be "after the favin' th' job."

Mr. McLean immediately shook his fist at the Hope diamond, charged it with making the maid ill and driving the cook out of the house and told the Cartiers it had broken its contract and that they had better come and take it away.

Now, the Cartiers wouldn't do any such thing, although not denying that the illness of the maid and the secession of the cook were calamitous. What they contended was that neither the maid nor the cook was a member of the McLean family. Mr. McLean tells woefully of the indignation that has come to him with a new cook and declares the maid and the cook who left are the rooftop and the hearthstone and the front door bell of the entire establishment.

Mrs. McLean, who was Miss Evelyn Walsh, takes the same view as her husband and quite a few other persons as to the pernicious influence that goes with the Hope diamond, and she doesn't want it around the house.

FUNERALS TOO LUXURIOUS.

Rev. George E. Cady Says Make Cremation Within Reach of Poor.

The wearing of black at funerals, expense of flowers, the luxury of being cremated and the cost of caskets were all commented upon before the Unitarian Ministers' association by the Rev. George E. Cady of the Pilgrim Congregational church, Dorchester, Mass., in an address on the high cost of living.

"The wearing of black at funerals is a sign of despair, not of a Christian home," said Dr. Cady. "If death ends all, why, then, let us wear black."

"As to the cost of modern funerals, we must set against the extravagance. The early Christian church knew nothing of this luxury that we see today in the modern funeral."

After describing how much it costs and how much the average undertaker gets, figures "showing the enormous profit in the business, Dr. Cady suggested the supervision of the undertaking business under municipal control.

"Make cremation within the reach of the poor," said Dr. Cady.

NEW PENSION SCHEME.

Woman Would Have Government Help Widows Who Have Young Children.

Widows with children of school age or under should be pensioned by the government, and when the children are of age they should be made to pay a certain amount toward the mother's maintenance, in the opinion of Mrs. Frederick L. Mahn, secretary of the Fathers and Mothers' club of Boston. She says:

"When a child is between eight and fourteen years of age he needs the most careful attention. Character is in the formative stage. The mother is constantly needed then."

"The average woman who loses her husband will struggle earnestly to keep her family together. Physical and mental weakness induced by such effort too often results in lamentable failure, and the mother becomes a derelict."

"The government can supply a remedy for such conditions."

Korea's Population.

Figures recently published by the Japanese ministry of finance give the population of Korea as 12,363,400 natives, 143,046 Japanese and 11,791 foreigners. There is plenty of room for very many more people, as the country is 600 miles long by 135 miles broad. Its parallels are about the same as from Concord, N. H., to Wilmington, N. C.

Reunion of Veterans of Confederacy

At Little Rock, Ark., on May 16, 17 and 18 will be held the annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, and it is expected that between 10,000 and 15,000 former soldiers of the Confederacy will attend. At previous reunions the complaint has been too much prominence was given to the social features, the veterans being crowded into the background by the affairs given by the Sons of Veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy and similar organizations. This year, while the social features will not be neglected, they will be subordinated to the entertainment of the veterans.

Preparations have been made to entertain 6,000 veterans as guests of the city, and tents lent by the war department will be set up in the city park. The camp will be in charge of General R. G. Shaver of Mena, one of the bravest fighters that Arkansas sent into the civil war. He commanded a brigade at the battle of Shiloh and is one of the few surviving brigade commanders of the Confederacy. On his body are six bullet wounds received in that battle.

J. B. Bateman, son of a distinguished Confederate surgeon, will be in charge of the commissary department. "The old boys are going to have all they want to eat during those three days if they never do again," says

MRS. L. B. M'FARLAND, MEMBER OF THE SPONSORIAL STAFF.

Bateman, who has engaged a first class chef and will personally direct the serving of the meals.

The entire lower floor of the Auditorium, where the sessions of the reunion will be held, has been reserved for the veterans. The program has been arranged by a committee under the direction of General George W. Gordon of Memphis, commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans. Nearly all of the speakers will be veterans.

Numerous entertainments have been planned for the old soldiers and thousands of visitors who are expected during the reunion. At Camp Shaver two bands will be stationed and will play patriotic and southern airs, and a free vaudeville show for the members of the camp will be given nightly.

Realizing that many of the veterans are feeble, every precaution will be taken to look after their interests. A volunteer organization known as the Reunion guards, composed of young men of the leading families of Little Rock, will assist the regular peace officers in patrolling the city.

BATTLE STILL ON AT JUAREZ

After a Night's Respite, Fighting Was Renewed.

BOTH SIDES ARE DETERMINED

The Dead in Beleaguered City Are Said to Number More Than a Hundred and the Wounded Have Only the Rude Ministrations of Their Comrades, Neither Side Having a Hospital Force.

El Paso, Tex., May 10.—The rebel and federal armies in Juarez took some rest last night, but the fight was never wholly stopped. Between exchanging shots in the darkness first, then in the moonlight, and setting fire to many of the principal buildings of the city, deserted save by the men who are contending for supremacy at arms, last night was almost as lively as the first night of the protracted engagement. The general onslaught was renewed this morning, the federal forces continuing a stiff resistance.

Beginning at 4:30 a. m., when a general engagement opened on orders from Francisco L. Madero, chief of the revolutionists, the battle raged furiously most of the day. Cannon exchanged shots, shrapnel were exploded among the men of the contending armies and hand grenades and rude, home-made dynamite bombs were thrown with deadly effect. Sometimes the fighting was close, sometimes at long range, but always hot and serious. Every inch of ground was contested from behind thick adobe walls, beneath the shelter of irrigation ditches or in the trenches thrown up from military necessity. Federal forces used an embankment or a wall, then, when driven back the insurgents used the same fortification to drive the enemy still further.

Federal forces fired their high-power rifles and cannon from the roofs of the principal houses in the city and the rebels replied in kind from the valley and nearby hills. The dead and wounded fell thick in the streets, where they lay in the sun and suffered from want of water, food and medical attention. Conflagration added to the horrors of war when insurgent bombs set fire to several of the principal buildings of the town, including the postoffice. Many rifle bullets and several shells came over the river into this city, and, as on the day before, there were several casualties from this wild firing. After the first fire broke out in the postoffice several others followed, until the Mexican Central roundhouse, the federal military barracks and several stores adjoining the postoffice were consumed by flames.

Reinforcements arrived last night and the fresh men took the places of many of the tired rebels in the trenches, while some of those who had been fighting for two days and a night, retired out of range of the guns of the enemy for a sleep in preparation for a renewed assault on the city again this morning. Giuseppe Garibaldi, soldier of fortune, grandson of Italy's great Garibaldi, commanded the insurgents' advance in the fight. General R. J. Viljoen, late of the Boer army, remained with Madero and sent advice to the front during the day. Pancha Villa and Pascual Orozco led attacking forces into the city, and Jose De Le Luz Blanco and his command remained in camp as a bodyguard for Madero.

Through an arrangement between Colonel Steever of the United States army, commanding the border guard, and Senor Tomas Torres, Mexican consul in El Paso, many of the wounded who had managed to reach the international bridges were allowed to come to El Paso hospitals. These included several Americans. The contending forces in Juarez have no hospital organization or medical corps, so that the wounded are for the most part left without any more attention than can be had from their unskilled comrades. Lying in the streets under the broiling sun begging for water, gaping wounds draining their life's blood and staining the pavement crimson, scores of fighting men of both armies are dying. Death has already claimed over a hundred, it is declared.

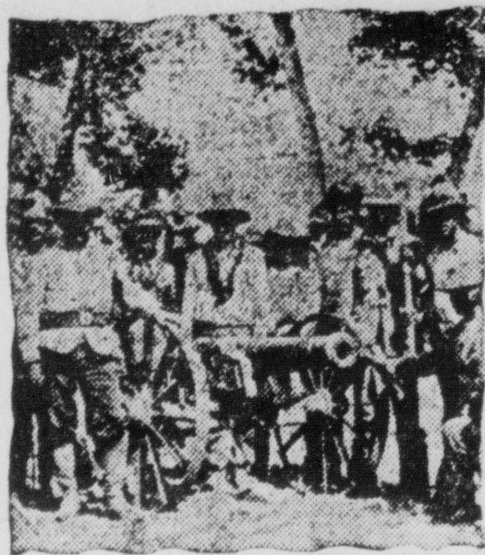

The city of Juarez is practically deserted except for the soldiers and the rebels. The American patrol on this side of the river permits women and children to come across at any time in any numbers seeking safety. All the business houses in the heart of the city have their windows and doors barricaded and shuttered, and those non-combatants who find it necessary to stay in the city retire as far from the scene of fighting as they can, and shelter themselves behind the thick adobe walls.

Indians Besiege Hermosillo.

Douglas, Ariz., May 10.—Eight hundred Yaqui Indians, who by holding up a train obtained 500 rifles and 20,000 rounds of ammunition, have surrounded Hermosillo, capital of the state of Sonora, and as the place is defended by less than 300 federal troops, its capture is expected. The Indians have cut the telegraph wires. Sixteen hundred rebels are concentrating for an attack on Cananea, which makes the downfall of Hermosillo seem certain.

TAFT IS NOT GOING TO INVADE MEXICO

President Still Determined to Keep Hands Off.

Washington, May 10.—President Taft has made known his determination to continue his policy of non-interference in Mexico so long as there remains any hope of a settlement of affairs there and of protection of American life and property through other means than armed intervention. Though the renewal of hostilities at Juarez has troubled the president a great deal, he is still far from the end of his patience and has no intention as yet of abandoning his efforts to keep the fighting away from the border line and to keep American residents of border towns away from the danger zone when fighting is in progress.

The apparent loss of control of Madero over the insurgent forces about Juarez is considered as perhaps the most serious development in the situation today. It was not, however, altogether unexpected by the government officials here. The confidential reports of the war department state that revolution exists in all but two of the states in Mexico and that only a few of them seem to have any connection with the Madero revolution. This situation increases the difficulty of handling the question, as there is no reliable head that can be dealt with.

The Trend Towards Osteopathy.

(Editorial Cincinnati Enquirer.)

"The whole tendency of medical thought and experience now is in the direction of abandoning the extensive use of drugs. Just as the teaching of a moral liberal religion has softened, if not destroyed, the old orthodox dogmas of original sin, fore-ordination and eternal hell, the growth of homeopathy has immensely modified the old orthodox allopathic system of bleeding and drastic administration of drugs.

Both these influences have been sturdily resisted by the standpatters in religion and medicine, but both have largely succeeded. Insurgency is the order of the day everywhere. Another more recent influence which has helped to reduce drug-giving has been the coming of osteopathy, which has found its way to reluctant recognition.

"It has unquestionably demonstrated that many ills for which drugs were being given grew out of osseous (bony) displacements or maladjustments, and needed only skillful manipulation."

"Now it is perceived that Nature intended that everyone should be healthy, and that the only causes of disease are either a mechanical injury or poison or impurities taken in to the system or waste remaining there and clogging it. Disease, according to the latest school of thought, is simply the effort of Nature to remove poison and obstructions and should not be suppressed or aborted, but Nature should be aided to sustain the system until the work is completed."

"Thousands have arisen to testify that osteopathy restored them to health. Almost daily additional triumphs over so-called incurables are being recorded, evidencing that the osteopaths are finding the keys and opening the seals and coming into possession of the glorious heritage to mankind—health, through Nature's methods."

"Here is seen osteopathy, backed by multitudes of witnesses from all walks of life, who attest to its potency and clamor for its treatment. It is contributing to human happiness and comfort by displacing disease with health."

The history of science has seven problems that men in all ages more or less have tried to solve, but which have finally been given up by all. Today they are called follies. The usual list comprises the following: First—Square the circle. Second—Duplication of the cube. Third—Trisection of an angle. Fourth—Perpetual motion. Fifth—Transmutation of metals. Sixth—Fixation of mercury. Seventh—Elixir of life.

Some lists put the Philosopher's stone for the last 3 and then add astrology and magic to make the seven. To the unlearned it would seem possible to draw a square which shall be exactly in area to a given circle, which is the first problem in the list, but we are told by the highest authorities that it is impossible. Since the discovery of radium it is claimed that the change of one metal into another has been accomplished, but is yet too early to dogmatize about the matter.

A banana rat is on exhibition in the show window at W. C. Bevins' establishment on South Chestnut street.

The little animal reached Seymour from South America in a shipment of bananas received by the J. C. Grub Company. Although it resembles the rat which is a native of this country, there is a considerable difference in appearance and it is much smaller than the local variety. The banana rats live on banana fruit and climb trees as easily as a squirrel.

Surgery, "Painless Charity."

The surgery of a not remote past was radically different from the practice of today and fell little short of actual torture of the patient. Burning the severed veins with hot irons to stop bleeding, opening gaping wounds wider to promote long continued suppuration, inserting tents and compresses between the gaping lips of wounds to prevent healing by first intention, filling gunshot wounds with boiling oil, etc., to counteract the supposed poisonous character of missiles propelled by gunpowder—with a host of salves, ointments and similar medicaments, it was not until late in the nineteenth century that military surgery became the soothing, beneficent, almost painless charity of today.—National Magazine.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

The Feline Influenza.

[A large number of cats in the south of England are suffering from an epidemic disease which has been diagnosed as a kind of influenza. It does not seem to be commonly realized that the cat is an exceedingly delicate animal. It droops and dies with hardly a struggle.—Times.]

Thomas is looking rather queer today.
Do you observe?
He's lost his nerve;
He's off his feed;
He does not deign to plead
For milk or fish bones in his usual way.

What do you think's the matter? Can it be,
As 'twould appear,
That Thomas here,
Our faithful cat
(No, no; don't say it's that!),
Has got the flu—our Thomas, even he?

The Jones' cat, you know, that was of yore
In splendid form,
Taken by storm
(But, I regret,
Not taken to the vet),
Has turned his toes up. So have plenty more.

You wouldn't think that cats that gambol through Life after life
In sin and strife
Would yet succumb
Without a kick to some Untimely epidemic, but they do.

Look at our Thomas there, the hefty beast!
Who knows his plight?
Tomorrow night
May see him lie
Drooping and fit to die.
Sturdy and healthy? Bless you, not the least!

And that is why I look at him and say
That grief and dole
Assail my soul
Life's but a flower,
And due is full of power,
And Thomas does look jolly run today.

The Motorist at Home.
"You have a fine lot of children, Binks," said Hawkins as after a spin through the country they returned to the house for dinner. "How many are there?"

"Seven," said Binks proudly.
"I've often wondered," said Hawkins, "whether you people with so many children have any favorites among them."

"Oh, no," returned Binks hesitatingly—"that is to say, not consciously, but of course we are more interested in a 1911 model than in the earlier ones."—Harper's Weekly.

BONBON DISHES.

Sweets For Afternoon Teas Are Put In Receptacles of Pierced Silver.

Women who entertain are interested in the pretty bonbon or cake dishes in basket form now shown in the shops. They are, of course, best suited for the smaller cakes like macaroons and may be used just as well for serving berries. The pierced silver is mounted over tinted glass, which adds to the effectiveness of the openwork silver. These dishes make handsome wedding gifts or gifts of any kind. They are also suitable as prizes for afternoon bridge or whist parties.

WALNUT CAKE.

Many Nourishing and Delicious Dainties Made With Nuts.

English walnuts should have a more important place than at present in the culinary world. They are nourishing and, when combined with other things, not difficult to digest. Nut meats may be substituted for a flesh diet to a certain extent. A delicious walnut salad may be made, which is an excellent thing for the spring bill of fare and may be used instead of meat, chicken or fish. Shell a number of the walnuts, saving some whole as a garnish for the salad. Shred some lettuce and take one part of lettuce to one part of chopped nut meats. Arrange a mound of lettuce leaves on a salad dish and then heap the chopped nut and chopped lettuce on these and garnish with mayonnaise dressing and the entire nut meats.

Walnut layer cake is another delicious nut food. To make it put four eggs into a basin, add six ounces of sugar and beat over hot water twenty minutes. Remove from the hot water and beat the mixture until it thickens. Sift in four ounces flour, two ounces potato flour, two ounces melted butter and two tablespoonfuls chopped walnuts. Place mixture in buttered and floured cake tin and bake till ready. When cold, cut cake into three layers and put a layer of apricot jam and one tablespoonful chopped walnuts on each. Then lay one upon the other and cover with frosting and decorate with halves of walnuts. Brush sides with jelly and sprinkle with chopped walnuts.

Coddling Servants Opposed.

Mrs. John Hay and Mrs. John Hays Hammond say they do not agree with the utopian advice of Mrs. Robert M. La Follette to put servants in a position of responsibility, to confer with them and appeal to their better nature. The only way, they assert, is to make the retainers comfortable, give them good wages with regularity and a certain amount of liberty. "When all this fails, try new ones, or, if need be, do your own work," is their rejoinder to Mrs. La Follette, who has the reputation of knowing every detail of home work and often has served as cook, nursemaid and house girl during upheavals below stairs in her homes in Madison, Wis., and in Washington.

Little Hot Biscuits.

Make tiny biscuits with a small round doughnut cutter. Bake in a quick oven and make into sandwiches—hot—filling with lettuce and slices of cold boiled egg dipped in French dressing or mayonnaise. Butter the biscuit first. Serve several to each guest on a bread and butter plate.

To Banish Paint Smell.

The smell of paint may be taken away by closing up the room and setting in the center of it a pan of lighted charcoal on which have been thrown some juniper berries. Leave this in the room for a day and a night, when the smell of paint will be gone.

Use For Skewers.

Wooden meat skewers should be saved, as they are useful for getting into corners when scrubbing wood-work.

THE CAUSE OF COLDS.

Result of Germs and Not of Changes in Temperature.

An English authority—now that the season of "bad colds" is approaching its end—has come out with the explanation that it is not sudden changes in the weather nor sudden moving out of a warm room to the chill outside that is responsible for the cold and cough. He argues that you can get a cold any time from anybody who has a cold and especially if the victim is coughing broadcast.

Every one has observed that in churches just after a long prayer or in theaters just after a long imposed silence upon the audience we have a gust of coughing that appears "catching." It is catching, according to the English authority—catching through the medium of a germ which from the explosive cough may be scattered in countless numbers to incredible distances. That old explanation of the person, "I got this cold from leaving the warm church and stepping out into the chill wind," doesn't go. The person got his cold germ into his nostrils and throat from the crowds which already were infected with it and which in coughing broadsides scattered the infection.

"Colds," says the authority, "are really slightly infectious fevers, and they spread rapidly in the cities, in schools, theaters, churches and in large offices where workers are crowded close together."

Unfortunately the English authority seems not to have isolated this tickling germ and evolved its particular germicide.—Chicago Tribune.

SELF STEERING SHIP.

New Scheme of Propulsion Includes Automatic Pilotage.

Two Brooklyn inventors have been issued patents on a scheme for vessel propulsion which they claim will make possible the control of the engines from the bridge and automatic mechanical steering. The system of pilot-house control of the propelling apparatus is secured through the combining of electric motors with kerosene engines and the automatic mechanical steering by means of an electrically connected compass.

The inventors claim that all the operator in the pilot-house will have to do will be to map out and start the vessel on a course, after which the machinery will do the rest. As soon as wind or wave throws the vessel from her course the compass box, turned around the north pointing needle by the falling away of the ship, makes an electrical connection which starts the propeller on one side revolving faster than the one on the other. This, so the inventors presume, will drive the ship back to her course in a few seconds, after the accomplishing of which both the port and starboard propellers will be revolved at the same speed again.

Explosions in Flour Mills.

An English firm of millers, troubled with dust explosions, set about discovering the cause of ignition of the dust. The mills use the steel roller process of patent flour, and iron or steel particles in the grain were suspected of coming in contact with the steel rolls and emitting the spark, causing the explosions. Accordingly an apparatus was designed by which all the grain subject to the rolls first was passed over highly magnetized steel arresters. The result was strikingly in proof of the theory. These electromagnets collected steel and iron particles ranging from the microscopic up to box nails several inches long. With a standard equipment of arresters capable of passing 1,000 bushels of grain an hour, so much metal collects that several times a day the magnets must be swung aside and brushed clean of their accumulations.

Inventive Eskimos.

We do not look for any great amount of inventive genius among the Eskimos, but for years they have employed a rather complete respirator, used in the preparation and taking of a vapor bath, as a means of protection from the dense smoke. This Eskimo respirator is a little basket woven of twisted strands of fine grass. It is placed with its shallow side against the mouth, and a wooden peg, which rises from the center of the basket, is held between the teeth. For this purpose water is evaporated over a big fire in a very low hut, which is tightly closed to keep in the heat. In this stifling atmosphere the employment of a respirator is absolutely necessary.

Machining Work Square in a Lathe.

It is considered by some impossible to machine a piece square in a lathe without special attachment. But it can be done quite simply as follows when there is no other machine at hand: Clamp a toolmaker's vise to the face plate, place the piece to be machined in it with enough projection to permit of facing off one side. Then place the finished side toward the fixed jaw and machine the next face, and so on until the desired work is done. If care is taken in clamping the job may be done to a surprising degree of accuracy and in short time.

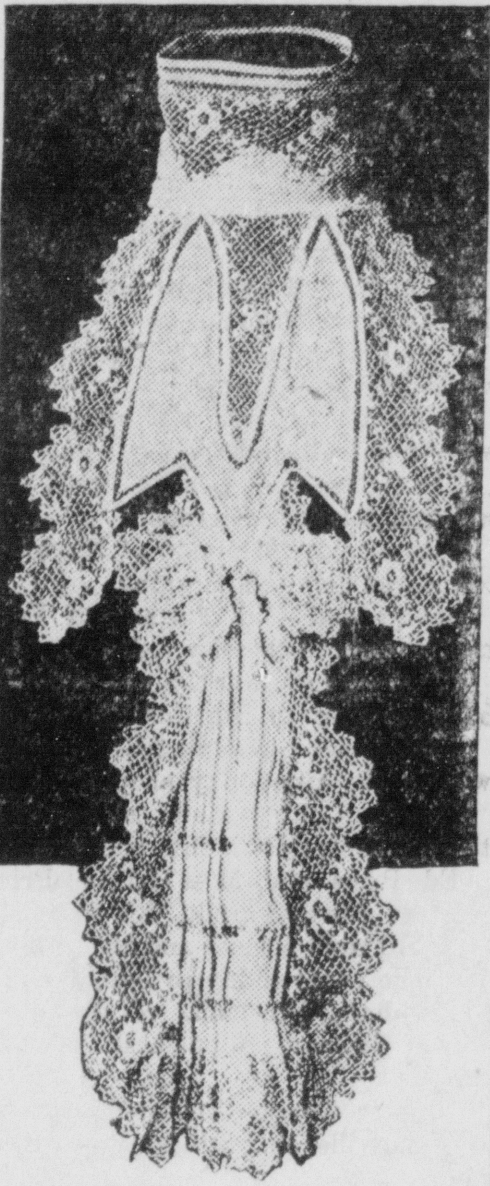

The Deepest Wells.

The deepest well in the United States is near West Elizabeth, Pa. Its bottom is 5,575 feet beneath the surface. The deepest well in the world is in Germany and is 6,572 feet deep. A more remarkable well, perhaps, reaching a depth of 3,600 feet, was drilled for petroleum in western China by primitive methods and by means of such crude appliances as a cable made of twisted strands of rattan.—United States Geological Survey.

IRISH CROCHET.

Appears in Elaborate Forms on the Smartest New Neck Pieces.

Irish crochet lace occupies a leading place in the consideration of designers of neckwear. Irish crochet is now popular in English court circles, owing to the mandate of Queen Mary that those who aspire to her favor must wear only goods of British manufacture. This may account for the lace's vogue with American society leaders, but the fact that it is so durable a lace and so easily imitated by the amateur has something to do with its popularity.

LACE COLLAR AND JABOT.

with the masses. No lace launders better than Irish crochet, and when it is made with fine thread it is as pretty as any other handmade lace. The design shown here is both chic and novel. The embroidered and hemstitched section of lawn in the center is cut in the modish butterfly shape. The lace on the stock is inset in deep points, and a butterfly bow of lace is knotted over the long jabot. The lace is a simple one, the motifs consisting of shamrocks, rose patterns and crescents given body by a groundwork of fine chains. The border consists of chains re-enforced with double crochet to form airy scallops.

FLOWERS FOR WIVES.

Husbands Should Bestow Them With Much Discretion.

Giving flowers to your wife is not the simple and artless act which it appears is what an experienced man remarked of this practice in discussing it with friends. Certain women accept this pretty attention with the unsuspecting joy of the wooing days, but others ponder about the cause of the giving.

A recent gallant governor of Virginia said at a banquet a wife would pardon almost any offense in the presence of a fragrant cluster of violets.

The wife of an eloquent public man of Iowa frequently has remarked she does not care how much gayety her husband has if he does not get caught, but she does think long and hard when he brings home roses and violets when the prices are high. This wise woman recommends that husbands habitually bestow small gifts of fruit and flowers at home and then the domestic atmosphere always will be clear.

Senator Tillman is one who enjoys the reputation of still adhering to his courting days in that every day he adorns his wife's center table with fresh flowers.

For Girls.

A bright new idea ought to have its inspiration from an inward wish to do something in a better way.

Get enthusiastic over the usefulness of your work in life and see how it fits into the general scheme of existence.

Don't waste a moment over trivialities. Do something "big" and you will find that one year will then yield as much as a lifetime.

Never put comfort before duty, because by so doing you will not be able to master yourself, the most essential of life's victories.

Coronation Pudding.

For coronation pudding take one cupful of finely chopped suet, three of flour, one of stoned raisins, one cupful and a half of milk, half a cupful of molasses and one small teaspoonful of carbonate of soda. Mix the dry ingredients, then dissolve the soda in the milk, add the molasses, make all into a batter, pour into a well greased basin or mold and steam for three hours.

White of Egg.

White of egg is most nourishing and should be given freely to invalids. Beat it slightly and add to tea or coffee, or it may be stirred into any kind of farinaceous food just before serving.

Strengthening Blinds.

To keep paper blinds from tearing get some very narrow tape and machine it down each side, and you will find that they will last longer and wind up much straighter than without it.

S.S.S.

CURES OLD SORES

The news value of any advertisement depends entirely on its truthfulness and common sense. Based upon these two facts we hope to make this short talk of special interest to all persons who are afflicted with an old sore or chronic ulcer. If in presenting the merits of S.S.S. as a cure for these troubles, our line of reasoning appeals to you, it will be an easy matter to prove the truthfulness of our statements by sending you a free book containing many testimonials from persons in every part of the country who have been cured of an old sore or chronic ulcer by the use of S.S.S.

Whenever a sore or ulcer becomes chronic or refuses to heal, it is because of bad blood; the healing qualities of the circulation have been weakened by impurities or poisons in this vital fluid.

The blood is the great source of nourishment for all flesh tissues. As it constantly circulates throughout the system it carries the necessary nutrient properties to every portion of the body. It is because of this continual replenishment that the flesh remains firm and healthy and free from disease. Since the blood exercises such an important and necessary function we can easily understand why impurities or poisons in this vital fluid so often infect and disease the flesh at some particular spot, and by continually discharging impurities into it cause the formation of old sores or chronic ulcers.

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. The inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that external applications never have any curative effect on these places, show that deep down in the circulation there is a morbid cause that prevents the place from healing. But more convincing proof that bad blood is responsible for old sores is furnished by the fact that even removing every visible trace of the ulcer by surgical operation, does not cure. THEY ALWAYS RETURN.

Only by cleansing the blood of the poisonous cause can an old sore be cured. S.S.S. heals them by going down into the circulation and removing the cause from the blood. When this has been done there is no longer left any inflammatory impurity or infectious matter to irritate the place, and nature causes the natural and permanent healing of the ulcer. When S.S.S. has purified the blood and the place is once more nourished with pure, rich blood, then every symptom disappears, and it is not a surface cure, but the place is firmly and solidly healed from the bottom to the outer skin. S.S.S. is recognized as the greatest of all blood purifiers, and therein lies its ability to cure old sores. It is purely vegetable, containing no mineral in any form, and its fine tonic effects are always helpful in overcoming the impure systemic effects of an old sore. Forty years of cures is the record of S.S.S., and what it has done in thousands of cases we feel perfectly safe in saying it will do in your case if you are afflicted with an old sore.

We have a special treatise on Old Sores which we will be glad to send free to all who desire it. It contains the statements of many witnesses as to the efficacy of S.S.S., some of whom you may know. We will also be glad to send free any special medical advice you desire. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

CURED MAN AND WIFE.

It gives me pleasure to relate my experience with S.S.S. Both my wife and myself have cause to believe it the greatest of all blood purifiers. I at one time had an old sore on my nose which caused me a great deal of uneasiness, being afraid it was malignant. My wife also had an ugly old ulcer on her face which gave her considerable worry. We knew of no cause for these old sores so concluded they were due to bad blood. We both used S.S.S. and it cured us sound and well. This was some years ago but neither of us have ever had any signs of a return of the sore. I cheerfully recommend S.S.S. as a cure for Old Sores.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

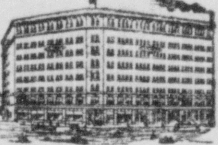

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

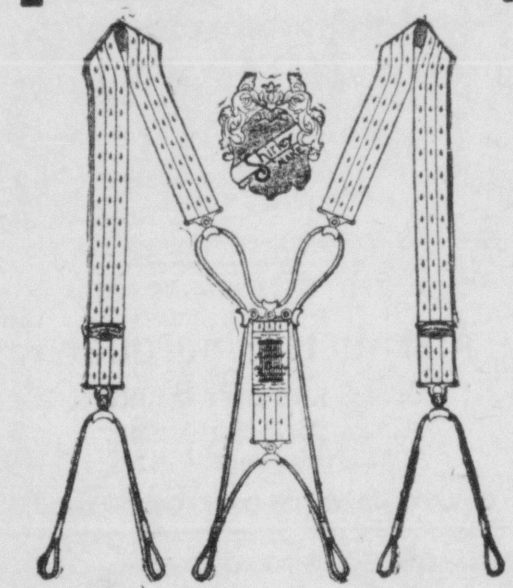

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best.

Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

CHAPTER V.

"I AM AN INNOCENT MAN."

I STRUGGLED with my dilemma for hours. I had relatives and I had friends, some of whom had come to see me and gone away deeply grieved at my reticence. I was swayed, too, by another consideration. I had deeply loved my mother. She was dead, but I had her honor to think of. Should it be said she had a murderer for her son? In the height of my inner conflict I had almost cried aloud the fierce denial which would arise at this thought. But ere the word could leave my lips such a vision rose before me of a bewildering young face with wonderful eyes and a smile too innocent for guile and too loving for hypocrisy that I forgot my late antagonistic feelings.

"I WILL TAKE YOUR CASE."

ings, forgot the claims of my dear, dead mother and even those of my own future. Such passion and such devotion merited consideration from the man who had called them forth. I would not slight the claims of my dead mother, but I would give this young girl a chance for her life. Let others ferret out the fact that she had visited the clubhouse with her sister; I would not proclaim it. It was enough for me to proclaim my innocence.

I was in this frame of mind when Charles Clifton called and was allowed to see me. I had sent for him in one of my discouraged moods. He was my friend, but he was also my legal adviser, and it was as such I had summoned him, and it was as such he had now come. Cordial as our relations had been, I noted no instinctive outstretching of his hand and so did not reach out mine. I was the first to speak.

"I am an innocent man so far as the attack made upon Miss Cumberland goes. I had no hand in her murder, if murder it is found out to be. My story which you have read in the papers and which I felt forced to give out, possibly to my own shame and that of another whom I would fain have saved, is an absolutely true one. I did not arrive at the Whispering Pines until after Miss Cumberland was dead. To this I am ready to swear, and it is upon this fact you must rely in any defense you may hereafter be called upon to make in my regard."

But I saw that I had made no impression on his convictions. He regarded me as a guilty man and, what was more to the point no doubt, as one for whom no plea could be made or any rational defense undertaken.

"You don't believe me," I went on, still without any great bitterness. "I am not surprised at it after what the man Clarke has said of seeing me with my hands on her throat. But, Charles, to you I will confess that I did this out of a wild desire to see if those marks were really the marks of strangling fingers. You shall believe me—you must." I insisted as I perceived his hard gaze remain unsoftened. "I don't ask it of the rest of the world. But you, if you are to act as my counsel, must take this denial from me as gospel truth. She was dead before I touched her. Had the police spy whose testimony is likely to hang me climbed the tree a moment sooner than he did he would have seen that. Are you ready to take my case?"

Clifton is a fair fellow, and I knew if he once accepted the fact I thus urged upon him he would work for me with all the skill and ability my desperate situation demanded. I was conscious of a great leap of heart as the set expression of his features relaxed and he responded almost warmly:

"I will take your case, Ranelagh. God help me to make it good against all odds."

I was conscious of few hopes, but some of the oppression under which I labored lifted at those words. I had assured one man of my innocence! He was ready to speak before I was. "Then you had not been long on the scene of crime when the police arrived?"

"I had been in the room but a few minutes. I do not know how long I was searching the house."

"The police say that fully twenty minutes elapsed between the time they received Miss Cumberland's appeal for help and their arrival at the clubhouse. If you were there that long?"

"I cannot say. Moments are hours at such a crisis. I—"

My emotions were too much for me, and I confusedly stopped. He was surveying me with the old distrust. In a moment I saw why.

"You are not open with me," he protested. "Why should moments be hours to you previous to the instant when you stripped those pillows from the couch?"

This was a poser. I had laid myself open to suspicion by one thoughtless admission, and, what was worse, it was but the beginning in all probability of many other possible mistakes. I had never taken the trouble to measure my words, and, the whole truth being impossible, I necessarily must make a slip now and then. He had better be warned of this. I did not wish him to undertake my cause blindfolded. He must understand its difficulties while believing in my innocence. Then if he chose to draw back well and good, I should have to face the situation alone.

"Charles," said I as soon as I could perfectly control my speech, "you are quite just in your remark. I am not and cannot be perfectly open with you. I shall tell you no lies, but beyond that I cannot promise. I am caught in a net not altogether of my own weaving. So far I will be frank with you. A common question may trip me up. Others find me free and ready with my defense. You have chanced upon one of the former. I was in a turmoil of mind from the moment of my entrance into that fatal house, but I can give no reason for it."

"You say you cannot be open with me. That means you have certain memories connected with that night which you cannot divulge."

"Right, Charles, but not memories of guilt—of active guilt. I mean, I am perfectly innocent so far as Adelaide's death is concerned. You may proceed on that basis without fear—that is, if you continue to take an interest in my case."

"I have accepted the case, and I shall continue to interest myself in it," he assured me, with a dogged rather than genial persistence. "But I should like to know what I am to work upon if it cannot be shown that her call for help came before you entered the building."

"That would be the best defense possible, of course," I replied, "but neither from your standpoint nor mine is it a feasible one. I have no proof of my assertion. All I know and can swear to about the length of time I was in that building prior to the arrival of the police is that it could not have been very long, since she was not only dead and buried under those accumulated cushions, but in a room some little distance from the telephone."

"That will do for me," said he, "but scarcely for those who are prejudiced against you. Everything points so indisputably to your guilt. The note which you say you wrote to Carmel to meet you at the station looks very much more like one to Miss Cumberland to meet you at the clubhouse."

It was thus I first learned which part of this letter had been burned off. It was the top portion, leaving the rest to read:

Come, come, my darling, my life! She will forgive when all is done. Hesitation will only undo us. Tonight at 10:30. I shall never marry any but you.

It was also evident that I had failed to add those expressions of affection linked to Carmel's name which had been in my mind and awakened my keenest apprehension.

"Otherwise," pursued Clifton, "what could have taken her there? These lines said 'Come' and she went, for reasons which may be clear to you, who were acquainted with her weak as well as strong points. Went how? No one knows. By chance or by intention on her part or yours, every servant was out of the house by 9 o'clock, and her brother too. Only the sister remained, the sister whom you profess to have urged to leave the town with you that very evening, and she can tell us nothing—may die without ever being able to do so. Some shock to her feelings—you may know its character and you may not—drove her from a state of apparent health into the widest delirium in a few hours. It was not your letter—if your story is true about that letter—or she would have shown its effect immediately upon receiving it—that is, in the early evening. And she did not. Helen, one of the maids, declares that she saw her some time after you left the house and that she wore anything but a troubled look; that, in fact, her countenance was beaming and beautiful."

Carmel, beaming and beautiful at an hour I had supposed her suffering and full of struggle! I could not reconcile it with the letter she had written me. The lawyer proceeded with his presentation of my case as it looked to unprejudiced eyes.

"Miss Cumberland comes to the clubhouse; so do you. You have not the keys and so go searching about the building till you find an unlocked window, by which you both enter. There are those who say you purposely left this window unfastened when you went about the house the day before; that you dropped the keys in her house where they would be sure to be found and drove down to the station and stood about there for a good half hour in order to divert suspicion from yourself afterward and create an alibi in case it should be wanted. I do not believe any of this myself, but there are those who do. Your passion for Carmel, while not generally known, has not passed unsuspected by your or her intimates, and this in itself is enough to give color to these suspicions even if you had not gone so far as to admit its power over you and the extremes to which you were willing to go to secure the wife you wished. So much for the situation as it appears to outsiders. Of the circumstantial evidence which links you personally to this crime we have already spoken. It is very strong and apparently unassailable."

"Charles," I asked, "how do they account for the cordial that was drunk—the two emptied glasses and the flask which were found in the adjacent closet?"

"It's one of the affair's conceded in-

THERE WAS A SLIGHT PRESSURE. congruities. Miss Cumberland was a well known temperance woman. Had the flask and glasses not come from her house you would get no one to believe that she had had anything to do with them. Have you any hint to give on this point? It would be a welcome addition to our case."

"Coroner Perry speaks of a third and unused glass which was found with the flask," I ventured tentatively. "He seemed to consider it an important item."

"It is a curious circumstance. I will make a note of it. You have no suggestions to offer on the subject?"

"None."

"The clew is a small one," he smiled. "So is the one offered by the array of bottles found on the kitchen table, yet the latter may lead directly to the truth. Adelaide never dug those out of the cellar where they were locked up, and I'm sure I did not. Yet I suppose I'm given credit for doing so."

"Naturally. The key to the wine vault was the only key which was lacking from the bunch left at Miss Cumberland's. That it was used to open the wine vault door is evident from the fact that it was found in the lock."

"You may add this coincidence to the other," I conceded. "I swear that I had nothing to do with that key."

Neither could I believe that it had been used or even carried there by Adelaide or Carmel, though I knew that the full ring of keys had been in their hands and that they had entered the building by means of one of them. So assured was I of their innocence in this regard that the idea which afterward assumed such proportions in all our minds had at this moment its first outward expression.

"Some other man than myself was thirsty that night," I firmly declared. "We are getting on, Charles."

Evidently he did not consider the pace a very fast one; but, being a cheerful fellow by nature, he simply expressed his dissatisfaction by an imperceptible shrug.

"Do you know exactly what the clubhouse's wine vault contained?" he asked.

"An inventory was given me by the steward the morning we closed. It must be in my rooms."

"Your rooms have been examined. You expected that, didn't you? Probably this inventory has been found. I don't suppose it will help any."

"I will see you tomorrow—any time tomorrow," I said. "Meantime I will give you a commission which you are at liberty to perform yourself or to intrust to some capable detective. The letter, of which a portion remains, was written to Carmel, and she sent me a reply, which was handed me on the station platform by a man who was a perfect stranger to me. I have hardly any memory of how the man looked, but it should be an easy task to find him, and if you cannot do that the smallest scrap of the note he gave me and which unfortunately I tore up and scattered to the winds would prove my veracity in this one particular and so make it easier for them to believe the rest."

"One thing more," I now added. "My ring was missing from Miss Cumberland's hand when I took away those pillows. I have reason to think—or it is natural for me to think—that she planned to return it to me by some messenger or in some letter. Do you know if such messenger or such letter has been received at my apartments? Have you heard anything about this ring? It was a notable one and not to be confounded with any other. Any one who knew us or who had ever remarked it on her hand would be able to identify it."

"I have heard the ring mentioned," he replied. "I have even heard that the police are interested in finding it, but I have not heard that they have been successful. You encourage me much by assuring me that it was missing from her hand when you first saw her. That ring may prove our most valuable clew."

"Yes, but you must also remember that she may have taken it off before she started for the clubhouse."

"That is very true."

"You do not know whether they have looked for it at her home?"

"I do not. I will take good care of your interests from now on. Be hopeful and show a brave front to the district attorney when he comes to interview you. I hear that he is expected home tomorrow. If you are innocent you can face him and his whole office with calm assurance."

"You are free," said I. "I am not. Miss Cumberland will be buried before I leave these four walls. I hate to think of her going to her grave without one token from the man to whom she has been only too good. Charles, a few flowers, white, no wreath, just a few which can be placed on her breast or in her hand. You need not say whom they are from. It would seem a mockery to any one but her, Lillies, Charles. I shall feel happier to know that they are there. Will you do this for me?"

"I will."

"That is all."

Instinctively he held out his hand. I dropped mine in it, there was a slight pressure, some few more murmured words, and he was gone. I slept that night.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

NATURE PROTECTS BIRDS.

Experiment Proves Value of White Under Body.

Even the most desultory of amateur naturalists has been struck with the fact that among animals, birds, reptiles and fishes the under portions of these creatures are of lighter shades than are their backs and sides. To these students of nature it is quite sufficient to account for the difference by saying that "sunburn" merely incidentally has developed a colored pigment in skin or feathers.

It was reserved for an artist to discover that nature's leaving uncolored the belly portions of these creatures was for the purpose of leaving them less visible to their natural enemies. One might ask, "How can a white belly shield such a creature from sight?"

The answer is that with sunlight or even the clouded light of day striking on the backs of these creatures a shadow in corresponding degree is cast over the creature's under portions. If this portion of the creature were as dark as is the upper back and sides the result would be an intenser dark on the under side. As nature has protected the creature, the whiter belly in shadow effects a blending which makes it least visible.

In Thayer's tests two objects about the size of ordinary potatoes were covered with a viscous fluid, were attached to wires and supported a few inches above a dust brown background. The dust was scattered impartially all over the two objects. A third object of the same size was painted white on the under half, and in treating it to a dust coat the upper portions were covered to a like degree, with only a slight dust shading on the sides, leaving that part which might correspond to the white belly of a thrush quite untouched. Stepping back a few yards, the two objects wholly covered a dust brown stood out in strong relief, while the object with white underneath disappeared from view altogether.

DRYING THE BANANA.

Great Change Takes Place in Fruit Thus Treated.

Speaking of bananas, the city dweller may imagine that a native banana, cut from its stem when just ripe, must be immeasurably more edible and full of flavor, says the Chicago Tribune. So it is. It is so much better in flavor that growers are experimenting with drying the thoroughly ripened fruit for shipment to the ends of the earth if there shall be a demand so widespread.

Chemically some startling changes come about in drying the banana. The green banana in the stage in which it is cut for shipment contains 80 per cent of starch and 3 per cent of sugar. Fully ripe the sugar content reaches 70 per cent, of which 40 per cent is saccharose—or cane sugar—while 30 per cent is invert—or honey—sugar. Only 2 per cent of starch remains.

In the ripened and dried banana a still greater change is effected. The saccharose not only resolves itself into honey sugar, but the 2 per cent of starch becomes saccharose and before completion of the drying process is honey sugar. And honey sugar is the richest and most easily digested of all known sweets.

Furs With Rubber Backs.

A new process for producing artificial furs is described in La Nature. The raw pieces of pelt are frozen and the skin carefully shaved off, thawed and sent to the tanneries to be made into leather. The frozen fur which remains is allowed to thaw slightly at the bottom so that a small part of the hair is freed from ice. This thawed portion is then covered with a solution of rubber, which is allowed to set. The result is that large seamless pieces of fur are obtained much cheaper than those which come with the natural skin. These same artificial furs are said to be more lasting than the real, because they are immune from the attacks of moths.

Andrew Smith of East Third St., who has been sick for several days,
is not so well today.

Saved Many From Death.

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business. "What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr.
King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, obstinate coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affection, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well today because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by The Andrews Drug Co.

The Enquirer says: "Effective next Sunday, these changes in train time will be made on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern. The "Newspaper Train" for St. Louis and Louisville will leave at 2:15 instead of 2:25
a. m.; the North Vernon local at 4:45 instead of 4:00 p. m.

A Father's Vengeance

would have fallen on any one who attacked the son of Peter Bondy, of South Rockwood, Mich., but he was powerless before attacks of Kidney trouble. "Doctors could not help him," he wrote, "so at last we gave him Electric Bitters and he improved wonderfully from taking six bottles.
Its best Kidney medicine I ever saw." Backache, Tired feeling, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, warning of Kidney trouble that may end in dropsy, diabetes or Bright's disease.
Beware! Take Electric Bitters and be safe. Every bottle guaranteed. 50c

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, Bantam, Ohio, "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years.
Instead I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve and my foot was soon completely cured." Heals Burns, Boils, Sores, Bruises, Eczema, Pimples, Corns.

evening. A class of new candidates will take the degree work.

Starts Much Trouble.

If all people knew that neglect of constipation would result in severe indigestion, yellow jaundice or virulent liver trouble, they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end it. Its the only safe way. Best for biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, chills and debility. 25c at The Andrews Drug Co.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS.

Mrs. Catherine Baldwin, of Chicago, and Mrs. Anna Kelley of Clinton, Iowa, are visiting Mrs. McGoffin and Mrs. Ed Jackson.

Henry Myrick, aged 71, died Monday at his home three miles south of Elizabethtown, and the funeral services were held at the Friends Church at Elizabethtown Wednesday morning.

I. G. Saltmarsh, who has for some time, been state agent for an insurance company in Missouri, expects to move to Kansas City in about a month. He left for Missouri this morning after a few days' visit at home.

It has been reported for several days that the council would at their meeting Thursday night add another member to the police force. The new man, it is understood, will if appointed, go on at noon and work until midnight. John Bauermeister, who resigned from the force recently, Isaac Burrell, Charles Blevins, Philip Thompson and several others are applicants for the job.

The funeral services of Mrs. Nancy E. Mathis were held Tuesday afternoon at the Leesville church by Rev.
Mr. Norman of Tunnelton. Burial was at the Allen cemetery. Mrs.
Mathis died Sunday at her home near Leesville, following a stroke of paralysis. She was 73 years old and leaves a husband and three children.
Hiram and John Matis and Mrs. Mary Speer.

Ray Milburn received a message from his mother, Mrs. C. S. Milburn, that she started from San Antonio Tuesday evening with the remains of Miss Helen Milburn. If proper connections are made at St. Louis they will reach here Thursday evening.
Ray Milburn left this afternoon for St. Louis to meet the funeral party.
The father did not receive the news of his daughter's death until Tuesday afternoon. Upon their arrival in Seymour the remains of Miss Milburn will be taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Winkhofer, 212 Bruce street.

Seymour Temperatures.

The following are the maximum and minimum temperatures as shown by the government thermometers at the Seymour volunteer weather observation station and reported by J. Robt.
Blair, observer. The figures are for twenty-four hours ending at noon:

Weather Indications.

Thunder storms tonight or Thursday. Cooler Thursday afternoon or night.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Seymour Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer
the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Seymour testimony:

Mrs. H. Moritz, 405 E. Fifth street, Seymour, Ind., says: "It gives me great pleasure to confirm all I previously said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills, when I publicly recommended them. This remedy was used by a member of my family and it effected a permanent cure of kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price fifty cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
